USRealty.com announced it has acquired national real estate brokerage Housepad, which will enable it to offer cost-effective property sales for homeowners, commercial brokers, home-selling websites and institutional real estate portfolio managers.

“After the licensing transition, USRealty.com will provide full-service brokerage capabilities across the country. USRealty.com can efficiently access all multiple listing service boards and will be rolling out revolutionary products,” said Colby Sambrotto, CEO of USRealty.com.

USRealty.com has a licensed presence in 34 states and a seasoned staff and is now better positioned to offer real estate brokerage services, Sambrotto said.
