

USRealty.com Overview

USRealty.com is a national residential real estate brokerage that enables property owners of all sizes – from individual homeowners to institutional investors – to list and sell homes through the most powerful multiple listing services and websites, choosing how much commission they will pay. The ‘a la carte’ USRealty.com model means that sellers can decide which selling services and fees will help them save the most money and capture the greatest return on their real estate investments.

- $900 million in transactions in 2015
- Over 4,000 homes sold nationally in 2015
- Sales success rate comparable to full-price realty agents
- One of the top 50 U.S. residential brokerages in terms of sales
- USRealty.com customers control all aspects and costs of selling their properties, paying only for services that save time and money and that deliver success
- Established in 2014
 - New York headquarters
- Pennsylvania call center staffed with experienced brokers and account managers

For both individual homeowners and real estate investors of all sizes, it's simple, streamlined and straightforward to list and sell through USRealty.com. Selling through USRealty.com cuts the traditional agent commission by half, preserving home equity and amplifying return on investment

- Licensed real estate broker in 33 states
- Member of 110 multiple listing services
- Network of co-operating agents across the country
- One-point-of-contact, streamlined listing tools for all digital platforms
- Start-to-finish management of listing through closing
- Full transparency through customized reports
- Suite of property management partners for complementary property maintenance, improvement and compliance services

USRealty.com Media Contacts

Kyle Stoner
President &
Chief Executive Officer
kyle@usrealty.com

Derek Morgan
Executive Vice President
Broker Services
dmorgan@usrealty.com